

The University of Michigan

Plant Extension - Architecture, Engineering & Construction

326 East Hoover Avenue
Ann Arbor, MI 48109-1002

February 12, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

RE: Terry's Barn Restoration

Terry's Barn Restoration was contracted in 2003 by the University of Michigan Plant Extension Rental Property Office to complete renovations on two historical barns and a farmhouse located on University owned property in Dixboro Township, Michigan.

The scope of work included: roofing, siding replacement, floor and sill replacement, structural realignment, window replacement, granary repairs, foundation and masonry repairs.

The work was completed for just over bid price, the price increase was due to unforeseen foundation repairs discovered after moving items stored against walls in the lower level. Communication with Terry Stitt and his staff and the work completed was to our satisfaction and it has secured the structures for many years to come.

I would be more than happy to discuss any questions you may have regarding Terry's Barn Restoration. You may contact me at [REDACTED], or e-mail [REDACTED]

Sincerely,

Jennifer Magoon-Judge
University of Michigan
Plant Extension
Property Coordinator